Agricultural Business Major
Junior
Merchandising Intern 2016

My name is Patrick White. I am a sophomore studying agricultural business. I am from Spencer, Iowa. Last summer, I interned at INTL FCStone, a Futures Clearing Merchant. While I was at FC Stone, I learned how futures markets operate, watched over trades, and conducted many different types of market research. Additionally, I became a licensed commodity broker through passing the Series 3 examination. FC Stone is a fast paced working environment with great employees ready to help interns like myself learn about the commodity markets. Working at FC Stone was a fantastic learning experience that I will never forget. This summer I will be working for Roach Ag Marketing, a commodity brokerage firm headquartered in Boca Raton, Florida.
