Megan grew up in a small town in Southeast Iowa called Marengo. She went to Wartburg and double majored in Business Administration and Spanish. After college, she moved to Iowa Falls to work for Iowa Select Farms as a Bilingual HR Manager. After 3 years, she joined Summit Ag as the Human Resources Manager. Although Megan didn't grow up on a farm, she has grown to have a passion for agriculture. Summit Ag was founded 30 years ago by Bruce Rastetter who is still very involved in the company. Summit is connected to an extensive network of farmers, investors and advisors working together to support capital investments and manage agricultural assets throughout the Midwest and in locations around the world. Megan explained that Summit offers various summer internships throughout different parts of the company, Summit Ag Investors and Summit Farms. When recruiting, Megan looks for an employee who will be a good culture fit and who is open to new opportunities. Visit SummitAg.com, CyHire, the CALS Career Fair or reach out to Megan if you are interested in opportunities. She describes Summit as a place where everyone is willing to help out and a place with a strong comradery. When looking at a resume, she recommends a clear and concise format with work history at the top. Megan also stressed the importance of having a prepared elevator speech when talking to recruiters.

Meet the Professor: Dr. Wendong Zhang: Assistant Professor, Economics Department

Dr. Zhang grew up in a rural NE China and currently lives in Iowa with his wife and two daughters. He has been an Assistant Professor in the Economics Department since 2015. His research is focused on three fronts including farmland markets, water conservation, and Chinese agriculture. Dr. Zhang was an exchange student in Hong Kong in 2007. He then gained his BA in China and his Ph.D. from Ohio State. Dr. Zhang explained how China is a country of rapid change and how his home province of around 100 million people used to grow lots of corn and wheat, but is now a leader in vegetable production. He teaches various classes at Iowa State such as Econ 364, Rural Property Appraisal. In this class, students pick a farm and do a rural property appraisal report to figure out how much the land is worth. He encourages students to broaden their information sources by keeping up on news within the food and ag industry. His favorite American food is cottage cheese.
